Stepping Into . . .

This is just a step. A step in the lives of some 500 students who shared a common experience: high school life. It would be impossible to cover everything that was important to each student in 1982 - 83, but hopefully this yearbook will jog your memory.

1982 - 83 was a school year filled with events both here and abroad: new wave rock, overpass parties, leg warmers, the Tylenol scare, E.T., record unemployment, Donkey Kong, a winning football team, the Falklands crisis, and Pearl's lunches.

Strolling the hallways of Capac High, typical garb included anything from sock-ties and leg warmers, to Jordaches, docksiders, and polo shirts, as opposed to faded bell bottoms, flannel shirts, and high top canvas Converse.

CHS students rocked to tunes of the group from "Down Under", Men at Work, the 50's sounds of the Stray Cats, and hot rocker Billy Squier. We were "gagged with a spoon" by Moon Unit Zappa's single, "Valley Girl," and turned on to funk music, thanks to "The Electrifying Mojo."

"Eat the energizer!" or "Jump!" were some commonplace statements, as the nationwide video game boom gave students a hobby or just an escape from the rigors of school work. Space games Stargate and Defender, Ms. Pac-Man, Donkey Kong, and Centipede were among the favorites.

Capac has that outstanding reputation of sports supremacy, and the Chiefs didn't downgrade it at all. The baseball team finished fifth in the state for the second consecutive year. For the first time in eight years, the football team had a winning season. The golf and cross country squads qualified for state competition, and the basketball team was ranked ninth in the state by the Detroit Free Press.

It was not a year of all fun and games, however. The state of the economy continued to fall steadily, jobs were virtually non-existent. President Reagan was faced with the decision on whether to intervene in the Falklands confrontation between Great Britain and Argentina, and seven people were killed by cyanide-laced Tylenol capsules in Chicago. The school was once again forced to cut the budget. This meant that the already depleted curriculum could not be improved. Athletes had to be supported by the C.A.P.A.C. group, and for the second consecutive year had to "pay to play."

So, this book of 160 pages is just a step. But a big step in your lives, because this is the middle ground between childhood and adulthood.

— Wayne Kamidoi

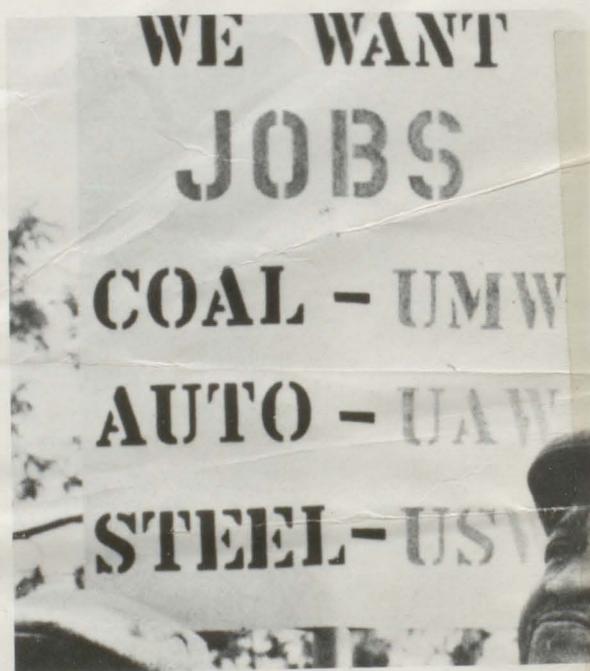

Student Life

An aerial photograph of a school campus. In the foreground, there are several large, rectangular school buildings with flat roofs. Some roofs appear to have patches of snow or ice. To the right of the buildings is a large, paved area, possibly a parking lot or a sports field, with some circular markings. In the background, there is a large, open field, possibly a baseball field or a soccer field, with a dirt infield. A road or path runs along the right side of the field. The overall scene is a wide-angle view of the school grounds.

Dec. 3 - Barney Clark rests after doctors implant an artificial heart.

Oct. 20 - Fans protest NFL Players' strike, which cancelled almost 100 games.

Oct. 19 - Two of the nation's 12 million Americans unemployed, picketing in D.C.

Oct. 20 - St. Louis players mob Series MVP D. Porter, after they won the seventh game.

June 2 - Argentinian soldiers surrender to end their conflict with Britain in the Falklands.

Oct. 7 - Many products, like Tylenol, were tampered with and caused a series of deaths.

Floats, Bonfire, Dress-up Days, Skits, and Crowning . . .

A 31-20 victory by the varsity football team over Brown City climaxed a spirited Homecoming week at Capac High School.

The fight for the "Spirit Jug" began on Monday, and the Class of '84 jumped out to a quick lead by winning "Jersey Day." The seniors tied up the competition on Tuesday as they had the spiffiest looking class on "Dress-up Day."

The seniors padded their lead with top participation on both "50's Day" and "Crazy Day." "Crazy Day" produced some laughs as there were some pretty "crazy" costumes. Many CHS guys dressed up as the opposite sex, decked out in dresses, red lipstick, high heels, and balloons. There was also a multitude of punk rockers with multi-colored hair roaming the halls, and a fair share of the juniors were dressed as if they were going to a toga party.

The cheerleaders put on a succulent roast beef dinner for the football players on Wednesday night. On Thursday afternoon, Count Scary, played by Paul Schliebe, explained to elementary school students what Homecoming was, as the National Honor Society performed in a special assembly.

"The Birds" (JV football team) flew to victory over Brown City, Thursday night. At halftime, the cheerleaders held a bonfire, which featured a yelling contest. Again, seniors came out victorious.

Homecoming Day finally arrived. It was an eventful day from the first hour bell until the wee hours of the night. National Honor Society members dressed up in the traditional clown costumes and sold helium-filled balloons to all the kids. The halls were a blur of blue and gold as students dressed to show their school spirit, and seniors continued their winning streak, having the highest participation on "Blue and Gold Day."

The pep assembly was a raucous happening. The classes hotly competed in events which included a pie-eating contest, a bag-blowing contest, dress-the-other-guy competition, and, of course, the yelling contest, all to earn points toward the "Spirit Jug."

All Part of Spirited Homecoming

Floats appeared in the halftime festivities after a two-year absence. The juniors had the best float in the eyes of the spectators with the theme "This Isn't Devil's Night."

On parade with the floats were the Homecoming princes and princesses, as chosen by their respective classes. Jack Campbell and Dawn Mousseau represented the class of '87; Steve McCray and Jenni Leonard were the royalty of the class of '86; Tim Campbell and Jodi Leonard, and Steve Fournier and Nancy Potyczka represented the classes of '85 and '84, respectively.

The King and Queen's Court included King candidates Mark Carroll, Curt Dean, Scott Gombowski, Todd Vigil and Mike Wagner. The Queen candidates were Julie Arthur, Bridget Bohr, Sheryl Felek, Marcia Potyczka, and Kathleen Stroman.

The huge crowd anxiously awaited the crowning of the 1982 King and Queen. "And the winners are Marcia Potyczka and Mike Wagner!"

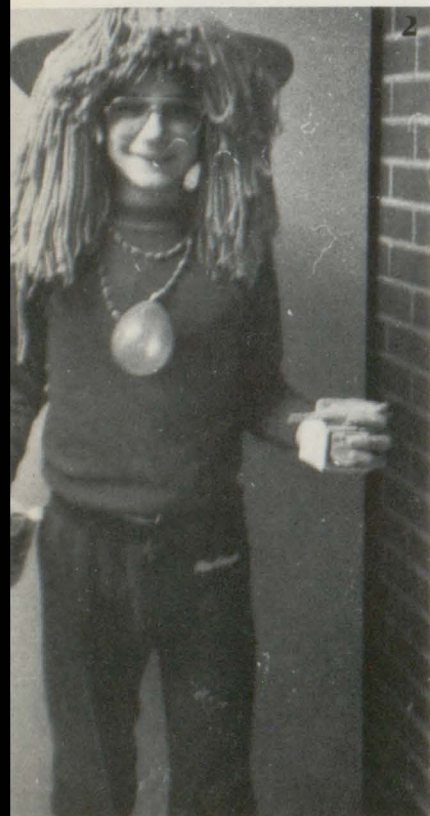

President Dan Rinke enthusiastically accepted the "Spirit Jug" for the Class of '83, bringing to a close the exciting halftime activities.

Two touchdowns by Ken Campbell, who gained 231 yards, sparked a second-half comeback as the Chiefs trounced the Green Devils, 31-20, making it the second consecutive season that the Chiefs have triumphed in the Homecoming classic.

Following the game, the annual Homecoming dance was a smashing success, and topped off a great week.

Behind the academic scene of every school are a multitude of very hard working people. Seven board of education members oversee the many administrative policies and decisions that are necessary to efficiently run the Capac schools. This is an especially difficult task in these hard economic times.

Working side by side with board members and building principals, and overseeing the entire Capac staff of instructional and non-instructional personnel is Mr. James Sundermann. This year marks Mr. Sundermann's second in the demanding job of superintendent.

Fortunately, Mr. Sundermann has three very capable women to assist him in meeting his responsibilities. Janet Sonner and Jan Rinke complete many secretarial duties and help keep the busy board office under control. Book-keeper Joyce Sutherby sees that the very complicated financial tasks are properly accomplished.

Taking Care of Business

Top man at CHS is, of course, Mr. Joe Remenap. As principal, he has many responsibilities. He watches over the education and well being of nearly 600 students, supervises the faculty, and is in charge of public relations between school and community.

The secretaries at CHS are the backbone of our high school. Without their making phone calls and keeping the office in line, Mr. Remenap wouldn't know what to do.

Mrs. Patricia Brozowski and Mrs. Kate Worden are the women who keep the school in running order. When Mrs. B. was asked what she liked best about her job, she replied, "One day is never the same as before."

To the same question, Mrs. Worden replied, "I like working with young people."

Keeping the 8th Graders in

Although our school's junior high level now consists of eighth grade only, this year's class of over 140 students kept our teachers busy. Several staff members are involved with guiding the eighth graders and helping them to prepare for the rigors of high school academics.

Various aspects of language skills are the focus of English 8. Under the direction of Mrs. Jane Abruzzo, Mr. Bob Abraham, or Miss Barb Redding, students study the basics of grammar and punctuation, work on building spelling and vocabulary skills, and escape into the world of literature.

Also included in all eighth graders' schedules is an hour of World Geography with Mrs. Kathy Martz. This class acquaints the student with the modern world by exposing him to regional, physical, and global geography. An emphasis is placed on current events and social issues like "Drugs and Alcohol," and "Law and the Juvenile." Mrs. Martz brings in special resource people for these units. World Geography covers a lot of territory, and ask any eighth grader--Mrs. Martz keeps you busy!

Another busy class is Science 8. Earth science is the focus of this class, where students gain an awareness of a constantly changing Earth and its place in the universe by studying everything from earthquakes to energy resources. Guiding students in this learning are Mr. Don Clark, Miss Kathy Kish, or Mrs. Mary Ann Dinger. Eighth graders might also see each of these teachers in another setting, as Mr. Clark is the junior high counselor, Miss Kish teaches a rotation class of agricultural science, and Mrs. Dinger teaches Math 8.

Available to help students experiencing difficulties in any of the junior high classes is resource room teacher Miss Sheila Myron. Miss Myron has a tough job since she has to keep up with all the teachers' assignments and schedules.

Rounding out the eighth graders' schedules are an hour of band or rotation, and an hour of physical education. Each marking period, students in the rotation schedule study one of four subjects: agricultural science, reading, mechanical drawing, or art. In physical education, students are able to exercise their bodies and minds as they learn new sports and experience the benefits of teamwork. Both Mr. Don Smith and Mrs. Jane Penzien guide students in gym class. In the future, students may see more of Mrs. Penzien as they step into one of her high school health classes. Eighth graders already see a lot of Mr. Smith because he runs the junior high athletic program and he keeps students in line during the first lunch hour.

Step with the World

What's the Story?

When stepping into an English classroom, students might experience anything from paperwads to term papers. Whichever room they enter, staff members wait to aid students in improving language skills.

As freshmen, students work on building vocabulary, producing book reports, and more, all under the direction of Mr. Bob Abraham.

Stepping up into sophomore year, Mrs. Nancy Montgomery guides tenth graders through various forms of literature, including the short story and the novel. Mrs. Montgomery also teaches Speech and Drama, and Senior English, where seniors strive to ready their skills for college and complete a 3,000 word term paper in the process.

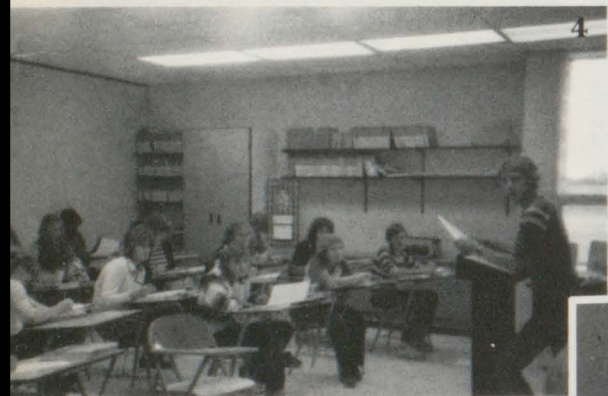

Mrs. Janet Swayze also teaches Senior English, but most of her students are juniors. This year, instead of basic English II, students chose between Classics in Literature, which studies the elements of good literature, or Communication Skills, a writing class.

For students who desire better reading and study skills, Miss Barb Smith conducts reading classes five hours each day. With her help, students improve, and discover reading really is fun!

As a complement to the various English classes, Capac High also offers two foreign languages, French and Spanish, taught by Mrs. Marilyn Manning. Mrs. Manning also spends a great deal of her time conversing in English, as she is the high school guidance counselor.

Without the invaluable assistance of Mrs. Marion Fischer, English, reading and language classes would have great difficulty achieving their goals, as would many other courses at CHS. Mrs. Fischer is, of course, our librarian. She is a very busy person because she handles all three libraries in our school system. Fortunately this year, Mrs. Jan Miller, Library Aide, has helped lighten Mrs. Fischer's load, and made the library more accessible to all.

Proving the Past is . . .

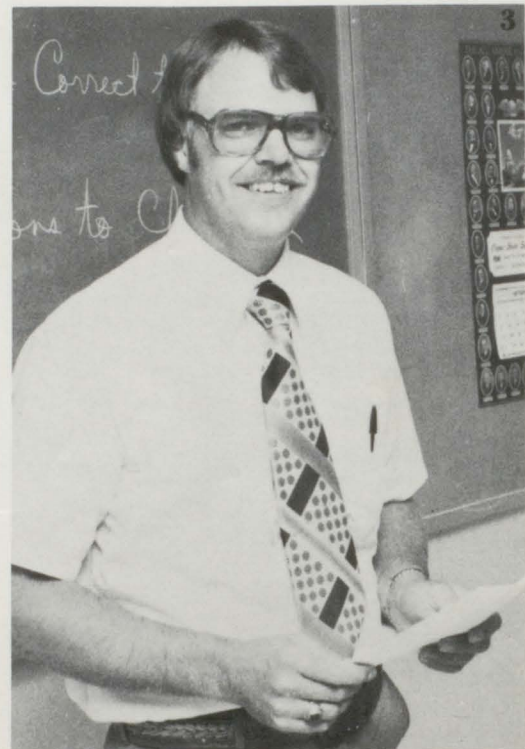

Students can discover America anytime when they step into a social studies classroom. The walls are filled with maps, and lecture-discussions cover topics ranging from Michigan History to World Affairs. Most Capac students get to know five social studies teachers as they step up through their high school years.

Through the guidance of Mr. Tom Ebner, the young freshman can acquire knowledge in Civics and Michigan History. In Michigan History, students learn reasons behind the development of our state. This creates a better understanding and appreciation of what Michigan people have had to go through in the past, and the struggles that may lie ahead for the adult in Michigan.

The Civics student in Mr. Ebner's class learns about the workings of federal and state government. Having an understanding of daily events in the lawmaking process not only prepares the student for future actions he may take, it also gives him a good background upon which Mr. William Stramaglio will build, once the freshman becomes a senior.

Mr. Stramaglio is Capac's well-known teacher of that final required class for seniors: Government and Economics. Senior year simply isn't complete until you've known all the finer points of a Mr. Stramaglio lecture.

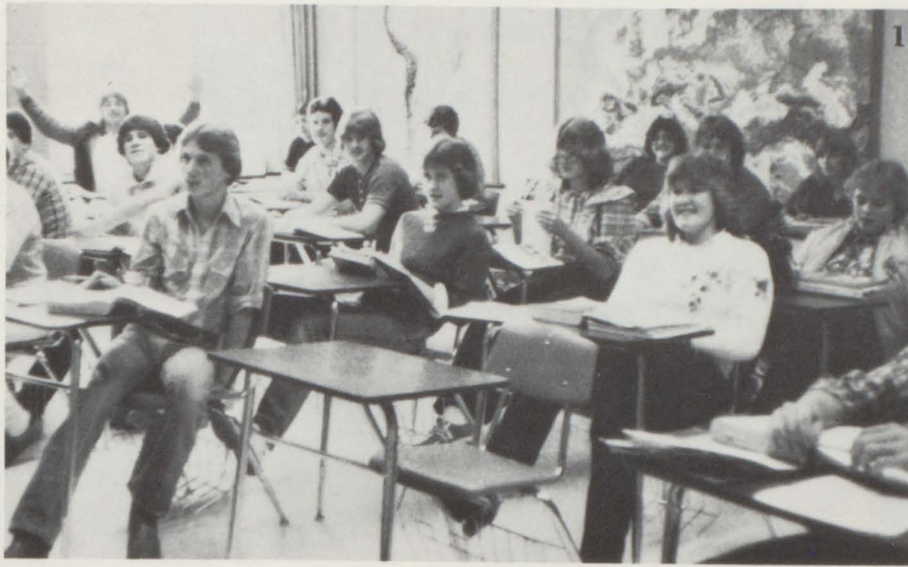

Before that final stop in Gov't and Econ, most students step into one of Mr. Bob Owen's classes along the way.

1. Mr. William Stramaglio
2. "Sit like a lady, Cheryl!" says Cathy.
3. Mr. Thomas Ebner

not Forgotten

Mr. Owen primarily teaches World History and World Affairs. In World History, students explore a wide selection of topics, from archaeology and prehistoric man to the various religions of the world. A student in World Affairs will be involved with current events, and Mr. Owen also sees that your geography skills are sharpened.

Mr. Owen's belief that "... we are all a product of our historical past," is no doubt shared by Mrs. Bev Williams and Mr. Harry Moore, American History teachers. Mrs. Williams became a familiar face to all in the fall of 1982 as she filled in for Mr. Moore until Thanksgiving. This year, juniors not only learned a wealth of information spanning the colonial years through WW II, they also have a laughter-filled time to remember.

People are saying that the 80's are going to be known as "the times of big business" and "the decade of the computer explosion."

Just about everything now is being run by a computer. When banking, you don't even have to see a teller; all you need to know is the code number to your account and you can deposit or withdraw money. Offices aren't using filing cabinets to hold all their important information anymore when all workers have to do is push a certain code number into a computer and the data they need flashes across the screen. The televisions in many homes are also turning into computers--not just toys, but educational games and household management tools as well.

In an effort to keep up with the times, students here at CHS now have the chance to take computer classes. They learn how to program and work the machine and do very difficult problems. The two classes offered are Computer Math, taught by Mrs. Sue Wallace, and Computer Science, taught by Mr. Ken Montgomery.

1. Mrs. Sue Wallace
2. Mr. Arden Nickerson
3. This does not compute!
4. Okay Lisa, get back to work!

The Computer Age . . .

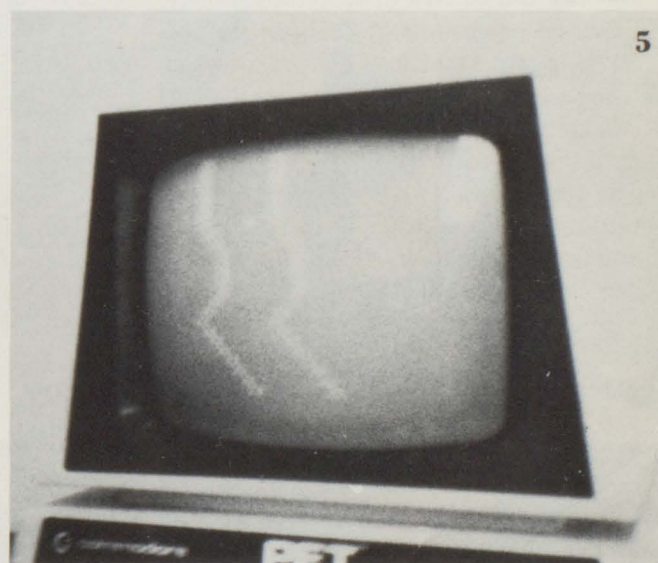

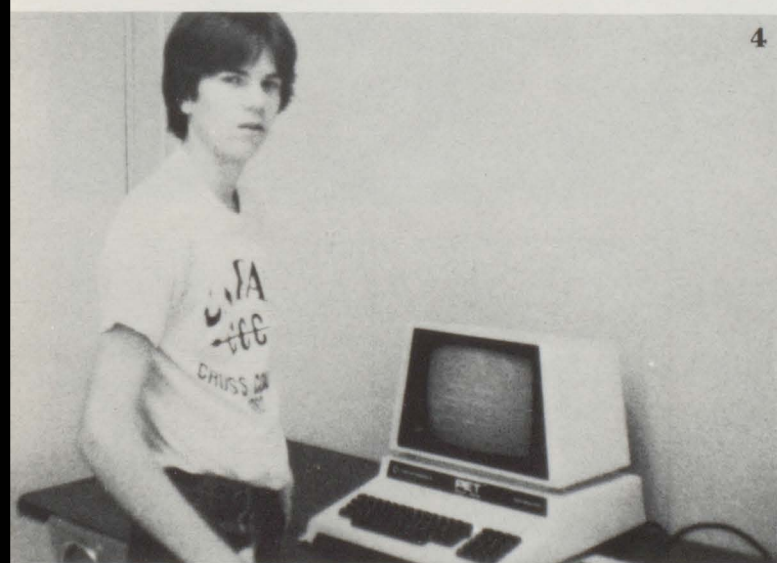

The world today is also turning into a big business office and students can learn the qualifications it takes to make it in business through the classes taught by Mr. Arden Nickerson and Mrs. Sue Wallace.

The business classes Mr. Nickerson teaches are General Business and Business Law. Mrs. Wallace teaches Accounting and Office Practice. Guys as well as girls enjoy the typing classes, where they learn an invaluable skill for use as a student, or future office worker. These classes are taught by Mrs. Wallace and Mr. Nickerson.

2. It doesn't have a fire button!
3. Dress up day in computer class.

. . . Keeping up with the Times

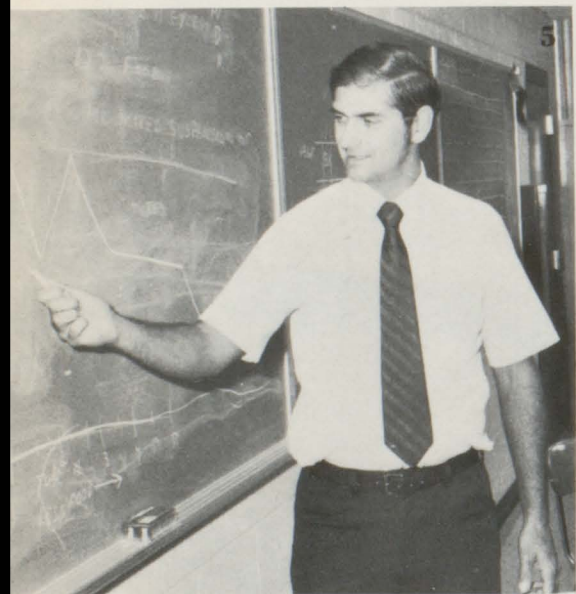

Stepping into a science or math class can be one of the more difficult hours in a school day, but several teachers are available to guide students over the rough spots.

In the biology classes taught by Mr. David Young, students are exposed to a life science and do experiments every day. Of the many projects in this class, the dissection of a frog is what is what most students look forward to.

Experimental

Problem

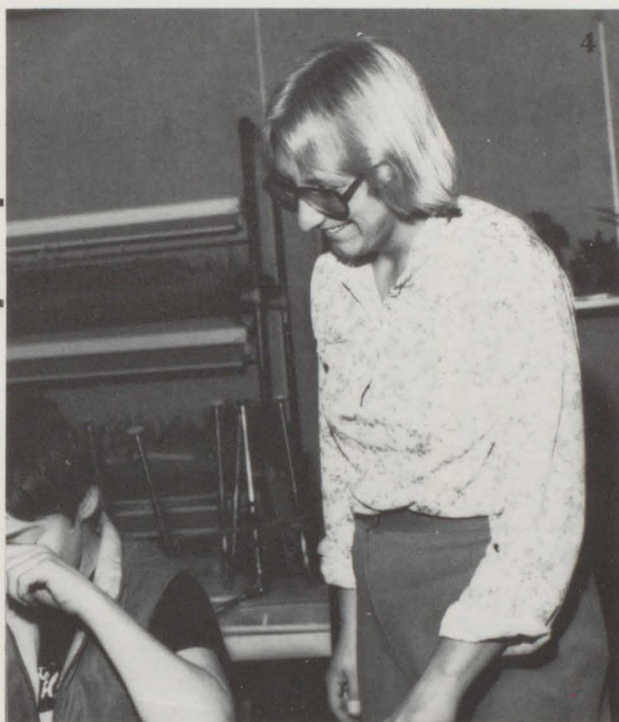

The Introduction to Physical Science classes are taught by Mr. Fred Hunt, as is chemistry. Freshmen are required to take the Intro class, but only the brave and brainy seniors take a chance on chemistry.

All the agriculture classes are taught by Miss Kathleen Kish. Miss Kish's goals are to make learning interesting and fun for students, to make the classwork as practical as possible, and to give the students foundations for working in a related field of agriculture.

Geometry and algebra classes are taught by Mrs. Patricia Finton and Mr. Ken Montgomery. Mrs. Finton's and Mr. Montgomery's goals for their students are to develop and maintain proficiency in arithmetic and problem solving skills, and to apply them to everyday problems.

Available to assist senior high students in math and all other academic areas is resource teacher Miss Jo Milana. Just as students must be on top of all their assignments in all their subjects, so must Miss Milana keep up with the demands of many teachers.

Art in 3 Forms

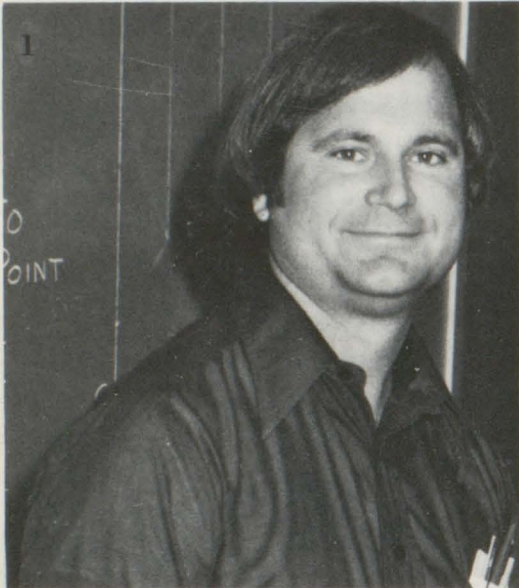

Beyond the more traditional classes associated with the basics of education, CHS offers the student a chance to step into some other skill areas. These classes can introduce students to possible careers, or develop skills and interests that will productively fill leisure hours in our fast-paced world.

Mr. Paul Watt teaches Mechanical Drawing I-IV. These classes teach students basic drafting and mechanical skills. Students learn to use tools such as compasses, T-squares, and architect scales.

Mr. Al Keskimaki teaches Industrial Arts. His students learn to use a number of complicated tools. Various math skills are put to practical use as students design and make such items as coat racks, footstools, jewelry boxes, and other creative projects.

The many talents of the CHS students shine when they work in the art classes taught by Miss Sue Miller. Students work with clay, chalk, paint, paper mache, and more, producing some admirable pieces of art. Miss Miller often displays these projects in a showcase near the artroom; patrons of CHS band concerts will often find a double treat as Miss Miller creates special student art showings for these events.

Let's Get Physical!

The gift of music appreciation and instrumental skill is given to students by Mr. Jack Seidler. The various CHS bands are visible throughout the year, on the football field and in the gymnasium "concert hall," providing enthusiastic entertainment for all listeners.

Development of enthusiasm and listening skills are an important part of physical education classes at CHS. As taught by Mr. Woody Perryman and Miss Barb Redding, students practice self-discipline and teamwork while learning various sports that can provide them with a healthier body and outlook on life.

Maintenance for Our Minds, Bodies,

Vital to providing the proper environment for academic work and extra-curricular activities are the custodians and cooks at CHS. Without their hard work, we wouldn't have the clean hallways and classrooms needed for a pleasant and safe learning atmosphere, nor would we have hot and nourishing meals that are necessary for sharp minds and healthy bodies.

Mr. Ray Malburg, Mr. Kevin Stroup, and Mrs. Lois Siegal work very hard to keep our building clean and maintained. Under the supervision of Mr. Pete Castle, their efforts guarantee that students in Capac will have a fine school building for many, many years to come.

Keeping things under control in the kitchen is Mrs. Pearl Glassford. Assisting her in food preparation and distribution are Mrs. Evelyn Whiting, Mrs. Laurina Cline, and Mrs. Theresa Kaluk.

4. Afternoons and evenings, Mrs. Lois Siegal can be found putting classrooms back in order.

Covering the Miles

In a rural school district that covers as many miles as does Capac Community Schools, a very important person in a student's academic career is the bus driver. Because of the punctuality and caution displayed by these people, Capac students are assured of a safe trip and on-time arrival at school each day.

ORGANIZATIONS

Future Farmers of America

The motto of the Future Farmers of America aptly expresses the overall purpose of this organization: "Learning to do; doing to learn; earning to live; living to serve." The FFA is a national organization in which members develop agricultural leadership, citizenship, and cooperation.

Throughout the year, FFA members participate in many different activities, including picking apples and pressing them into cider, Big Acre projects, leadership contests, ag. skills contests, MSU poultry improvement projects, Food for America, and many more.

Four people visited the national FFA convention in Kansas City, Missouri, this past November. Jana Rinke, Ron Rodzoz, Augie Rodriguez, and Beth Stuever all had an experience they will never forget.

About 20 people picked apples and pressed them into apple cider this past fall. The final product was sold to raise money for FFA projects.

In the Big Acre project, sponsored by the Pillsbury Company, an individual grows a crop of his choice on one acre of land, and tries to get the best yield and results compared to the other participants.

The leadership contest is held in February and March. Students compete against members of other school chapters and hope to advance through district, regional, and state levels. There are seven different subjects for speech competition: ag. forum, public speaking, extemporaneous speaking, greenhand public speaking, job interview, and parliamentary procedure.

Food for America is a program to educate younger children about the needs and benefits involved in raising farm animals. FFA members bring in different animals to an audience of Capac elementary students, and then explain what each animal eats, how to take care of them, and the food benefits it provides.

Obviously FFA is a very active and educational organization.

Top ranking members this year are: President--Danine Jurn; Vice-President--Cathy Lauwers; Secretary--Jana Rinke; Treasurer--Dennis Ginn; Sentinel--Augie Rodriguez; Reporter--Carol DeSmet; Alumni Secretary--Ron Rodzoz; and Parliamentarian--Bill Hencak.

Brains United

During the course of each year, the National Honor Society helps many people feel that they are wanted and cared for. NHS is a very special organization.

NHS members are specially chosen for the quality of their leadership, citizenship, and grade point average. They must have and maintain at least a 3.0 grade point average.

Many of the NHS members visit convalescent homes in Lapeer and Yale to give gifts during Christmas and to show that people do care.

During Homecoming, members of NHS dress up as clowns, to sell balloons at all three schools to raise money for these benefits. Funds are also used for initiations, NHS pins, and anything else that would be helpful to anyone in need.

Even though they are frequently busy helping people, NHS members do find time to elect officers. This year, Danine Jurn is president, while Dan Rinke acts as vice president. Anne Titterington and Heidi Spencer are secretary and treasurer respectively. Reporter for the National Honor Society is John Gonzalez.

They've Got the Beat!!!

Neither rain, sleet, hail, nor snow could keep this year's marching band off the football field. Marching band, which had been cut in 1981 due to a millage failure, was back this year, and they did an excellent job. The band performed at every home football game. Mother Nature had no pity on the band, as they had to march in snow, freezing rain, and below normal temperatures. In spite of the wet and cold weather, the band's playing was always lively and spirited.

In addition to football games, the marching band also put on a fall Band-O-Rama for the public, consisting of a medley of songs from their pre-game and half-time shows. Mr. Jack Seidler, the band's director, and the band members deserve thanks and praise for a job well done.

When football season is over, the marching band takes off their long underwear and extra clothing to play in concert band. Early in the winter they begin practicing in school and after school for the festival which takes place in the spring. The band has been very successful in the past years at competition. Last year they received a II in regional competition, and the year before they received a I, then proceeded on to the state festival.

In the midst of all their practice and preparation for festival, the band also presents a Christmas concert for the community, and they brave the cold weather once more to march in the Santa Parade.

Obviously, band students have a very busy year. In addition to the various full-band activities, many students volunteer to be in the jazz band, which also performs at concerts.

Congratulations, band members, for your outstanding contributions throughout the year.

Putting the Year in Pictures

The yearbook is not just a class to take to get an easy "A" -- it takes a lot of work, work, and more work to get the finished product you are reading now.

When a deadline is near, you know it, but no matter how much time you take with the assigned pages, it always seems to go down to the last minute, and you end up staying hours after school to get done. That's just some of the chaos that goes on in yearbook class.

Trying to lessen the chaos and oversee the entire production process is Mrs. Jane Abruzzo. Mrs. Abruzzo's first year with the yearbook has been hectic, as she also is in somewhat of a learning process, but she was always there when her help was needed.

In spite of some confusion and some very pressured times, all the effort the students put into the production of the book is well worth it, providing them with a sense of accomplishment and pride.

A special thanks this year has to go to all the local businesses that purchased ads. Without these people, the book could never get started, because the ads provide the funds necessary for production. Another thanks goes to Mr. Paul Watt and Miss Sue Miller who were integral parts in the cover design. Thanks also to Faith Liniewski from the Lapeer County Vocational Technical Center, Graphic Arts program for doing the typesetting for is.

Deadlines!

Being a member of The Chieftain staff can be just as much fun as it is hard work. There are deadlines to be met in writing, typing, and pasting.

The Chieftain is well-organized and almost punctual. The main reasons behind this organization are the togetherness and dedication of the class members and the watchful eye of Mrs. Jane Abruzzo.

The work can seem endless. The section editors and reporters seek out breaking stories going on at CHS and bring them to life on paper. Then the typists must transform those stories into the finished product with speed and perfection. The production people then paste them down, matching them with the appropriate headlines.

When the paper is finally complete, staff members can breathe a sigh of relief, and then go out and "spread the news!"

Groups of Today

Of the many different clubs for students to join at CHS, several teach skills and give special training for jobs in the future. Two of these clubs are the Business Office Education Club (BOEC) and the Health Careers Club.

Through the guidance of advisor Mrs. Sue Wallace, BOEC members learn different skills, such as manual or electric typewriting, filing, business math, accounting. Every year competitions are held and members put their skills to a challenge against other BOEC members from the surrounding area. If a member is good enough, they might go to state competition, a big achievement not only for that member, but for our school as well.

Another club here at CHS is Health Careers. This club, under the watchful eye of Mrs. Carol Duquette and Mrs. Kathy Michol, trains guys as well as girls to become nurses aides. The members are required to work a total of 24 hours at Yale Hospital in order to receive a Health Careers pin.

Both of these clubs give their members training in a certain job which will help them to succeed in the future.

Exaltens Seek Fuel

The Exaltens, Capac students interested in engineering and related fields, have been working on sources of alternate energy, mainly the production of methane and wind power. They expect to finish these projects around the year 1985.

The Exaltens meet on Wednesday evenings down at Fisher Body Tech Center in Warren.

A part of this group, headed by Mike Nabors, Vice-President of Engineering, works in the design area, making plans and designing things needed for the projects. In the massive shop building, some of the members manufacture and fabricate parts and items for the production of methane.

Looking over and keeping track of manufacturing is Kris Bartling. Overall, to really keep things rolling, Bill Nabors and two main advisors, Mr. John Auby and Mr. Karl Bartling, help them design and make the proposed ideas. Kim Bartling and Rosemary Auguinaga are Vice-President of Management, and Treasurer, respectively.

"C" Means Pride

Maintenance of unity of pride, respect for an athlete, to socially function as a group, and to promote student athletes are just a few of the purposes of the Varsity Club.

The club's plans for 1982 - 83 included visiting college campuses, attending raquetball outings and possible trips to Piston basketball or Tiger baseball games.

President for this year is Mark Carroll. Wayne Kamidoi and Bridget Bohr are Vice-President and Secretary. Treasurer for the Varsity Club is Heidi Spencer.

The Ham Radio Club, the Rocket Club, and the Equestrians all serve to develop the various interests of Capac students.

In Ham Radio Club, one learns the value of the amateur service to the public, and of the amateur's unique ability to enhance international goodwill. Club members take trips to a ham radio festival and to the Federal Communications Commission office in Detroit.

Rocket Club members learn about aerospace vehicles, principles of their design, and how to operate the models. Throughout the year, members have demonstrations to display the rockets. A trip to the Michigan Space Center in Jackson highlights the year.

Whereas Ham Radio and Rocket Clubs serve more scientific-type interests, the Equestrians serve the interests of the more nature-oriented student — the horse lover. Members learn how to properly care for, feed, and groom a horse, as well as the fine points of showing a horse in competition.

Although each group is different, all three help interested members reach personal goals and gain enjoyable experiences.

Aides Lend a Helping Hand

The various aides at CHS are a great help in either the classrooms, the office, or the library.

Teachers' aides take care of many time-consuming duties such as typing assignments and worksheets, duplicating materials, retrieving library materials, and correcting papers, thereby allowing teachers more time to spend with students and to plan instruction.

Office aides assist the secretaries in many ways. These students often act as "runners", delivering messages, picking up attendance cards, finding students for counselor appointments, etc.

Library aides help reduce Mrs. Fischer's heavy burden of running three libraries. They file cards, shelve books, update the card catalog, keep track of overdues, deliver audiovisual materials, and do any other task that Mrs. Fischer or her assistant Mrs. Miller may need accomplished.

To be an aide, a student must be a junior or senior and maintain acceptable grades in all classes. Good job, aides!

VARSITY FOOTBALL

A 35-14 victory in the season finale over Kinde-North Huron by the varsity football team gave second-year coach Steve Kamidoi and his team something a Capac squad has not accomplished since 1974—a winning season.

Ken Campbell's 190 yards and three touchdowns led the Chiefs to their first victory of the season. Capac cruised out to a 25-0 lead and held on to it, upsetting Manchester, 31-14. It was a big win, because at the time, Manchester was ranked number nine in the Class C state rankings, according to the Detroit Free Press.

A disappointing 22-6 loss to Yale dropped the Chiefs' record to 1-3 and hopes of a good season seemed to be in jeopardy.

The next week, the Chiefs traveled to powerhouse Armada and nobody expected the Chiefs to come out victorious. The team, however, proved the media skeptics wrong as they pulled one of the area's biggest upsets of the year ruining the Tiger's homecoming by nipping them, 13-12.

Outside linebacker John Gonzalez made, perhaps, the key play of the game. He thwarted a potential game-winning two-point conversion by tackling the Armada tailback behind the line of scrimmage to preserve the Chiefs' 13-12 lead with 45 seconds left in the game.

Scott Glombowski scored on a quarterback sneak to give the Chiefs a 6-0 lead. Steve Fournier booted the extra point, which turned out to be the eventual game winner. Ahead 7-6 midway through the final stanza, Dave Finn went around end for 21 yards to cap the game-winning drive and give the Chiefs a 13-6 lead. Armada marched right down the field to score with under a minute to play, cutting the deficit to one, 13-12. Then, the defense rose to the occasion aborting the two-point conversion that could have taken the victory away from the Chiefs.

For the second consecutive year, the Chiefs gave their fans a homecoming victory, trouncing Brown City, 31-20.

Brown City held a 12-10 halftime lead countering with two TD's late in the second quarter to erase a 10-0 lead held by the Chiefs.

The second half, however, was all Capac as they outscored the Green Devils 21-8 to even their record at 3-3.

Ken Campbell had a superb game rambling for a career high 231 yards, including a 76-yard run and another from five yards out for TD's.

The Chiefs extended their winning streak to three after annihilating Dryden, 49-12. Mark Carroll was the workhorse and star of the game running over Cardinal defenders en route to a three touchdown, 183-yard performance.

The Chiefs came roaring back from a 9-7 halftime deficit to crush Kinde-North Huron, 34-15, ending the '82 season with a 5-4 slate. That record marked the first time in eight seasons a varsity football team ended up over .500.

Senior tailback Ken Campbell, first team all-league selection, led the rushing attack. Campbell rushed for 1,110 yards, including seven over 100-yard games and ten touchdowns. In breaking the 1,000-yard barrier, he became the first Chief player since 1974 to accomplish this feat.

Mark Carroll, senior fullback, rushed for an additional 721 yards and garnered a team high 12 touchdowns. Carroll was an integral part of the defense and for his contributions he was selected to the STA second team, both offensively and defensively.

This junior middle linebacker was simply all over the field making tackle after tackle. David Conrad deservedly was named to the first team defensive squad. He had one of the finest individual defensive games in the area as he accounted for 26 tackles in the Armada win.

Scott Glombowski, a senior quarterback and team leader, masterfully directed the offense, vindicating his second team all-league selection.

CROSS COUNTRY

The boys cross country team had one of its most successful seasons in recent memory qualifying for state competition and capturing three team trophies in 1982.

Coach Fred Hunt had the luxury of having two outstanding runners. Senior Dan Rinke was consistently in the top five runners in dual meet competition and was a team leader. His 11th place finish at the very competitive Eisenhower Invitational led the harriers to a fifth place finish.

Junior Craig Lohmann led the team to all of their trophy winning performances. This junior was the first Capac harrier to cross the finish line in each of the races. His fifth-place finish at the Reese Invitational carried the team to the championship crown. He placed seventh in the Marysville Invitational to aid in the harriers' runner-up performance. He also helped the team to a second-place at the Yale Invitational.

Paul Yelle, a senior, was impressive late in the season. Yelle placed 11th in the Shrine Invitational and was Capac's top finisher in the state finals finishing in 55th place.

This year saw an outstanding crop of sophomores, who will be the key to future success. Vince Griffiths, Tom Lottie, Kevin Jamison, and Olof Lester showed promise and all competed in the State Finals.

The team put on their best performance of the year at the Class C Regional held at Metro Beach. The "Fast Seven" placed second in a strong field to qualify for the State Finals.

Lohmann led the attack with a fifth-place finish crossing the line in 16:57.

The pair of seniors, Rinke and Yelle, finished back-to-back at 11th and 12th place, respectively. Yelle's finish was the key to the Chiefs fine performance, because it was much better than expected.

The girls did not have a competing team, but did have one outstanding runner. Sophomore Karen Koning's performance placed her among the elite runners in the area. Koning placed fourth at regionals to qualify for the individual state race. Her lowest finish in an invitational was eighth and she is definitely a star of the future.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

The girls varsity basketball team ended their 1982 season in the first round of district play, as they lost to the Armada Turks in a game that went right down to the wire.

However, the loss was not indicative of how the Chiefs played all season. Capac again was right in the thick of things for the STA championship, but it was Brown City who hampered all of Capac's expectations, taking two league victories from the Chiefs.

The first confrontation between the rivals was no contest as the Devils controlled the entire game. It was the second tangling of Capac and BC that the Chiefs should have won, but the Devils tied the game with two seconds left and eventually won the game in overtime.

The battle for second place came between Capac and Armada in the last league game of the season which the Chiefs won very easily.

Second year coach Bob Abraham did another superb job with his girls, as the sophomore mentor has distinguished himself as one of the top coaches in the area with a compiled 37-6 record. The Chiefs this year managed a fine 18-3 overall mark and a 12-2 second place finish in the league.

Bridget Bohr led the team in the scoring department, carrying an 18 point average per game. Bohr also received many well deserved post season honors including 1st Team STA, Most Valuable Player, Team and STA, and 1st Team Blue Water Area.

The counterpart guard Danine Jurn also had a fabulous season as she held a 15 point average. Jurn relied mostly on her quickness and the result was fast break basket after basket.

A pleasant surprise for the Chiefs was the maturing of sophomore center Karen Rawlins who will be depended on heavily next season.

Michele Wages closed out her senior campaign doing a fantastic job for the last two years as a varsity starter.

Cheron Frye is another senior that will be badly missed; she held a tough role playing behind two of the best guards in the Southern Thumb.

Juniors Lori Hannon, Theresa Worden and Jennifer Zientak all gave the Chiefs an added strength to the lineup. Hannon was a starter throughout the season and could be awaiting her best season yet. Worden received the most improved honors from her coach and will continue to improve for the Chiefs next season. Zientak did see some playing time and looks forward to next year.

Three other sophomores that aided the varsity immensely this season were Heather Messner, Stacy Schrader, and Laurie Clark; these youngsters have had one year of varsity experience and poses potential as Capac's future stars.

GOLF

For the second consecutive season, the golf team qualified for the state finals as they placed second in regional competition and won the Southern Thumb Association league meet under first-year coach Dave Young.

Senior Tim Quain, who led the team with a 40.3 stroke average, achieved STA selection honors, and was a second team All Blue Water Area choice.

Consistency was what senior Tom Mailloux and junior Jeff Bligh gave to the team. This duo played well all season long, averaging 42, and both earned second team all-league selections.

Tony Snow played a little erratically, but when he played well, he really played well. In one match, the junior shot a two-under par 34, the best single round in the area, at Belle River Golf Course, to help the Chiefs set a course record of 156 against Brown City.

The linksters came through in the clutch as they qualified for the state finals with a second place finish in the Caseville regional contest. Bligh led the Chiefs as he fired an 87. Quain was one stroke behind with an 88. Mailloux and Snow rounded out the scoring with a 90 and 94, respectively.

At the state finals held in Marshall, the slashers didn't fare that well. They placed 16th out of 21 teams, shooting a disappointing 372.

The high point of the season could well have been winning the league championship meet at Almont's Heather Hills. The Chiefs shot a 343, aided by a course record 165 on the second nine, shattering their own mark of 173 set earlier this season, and outdistancing second place Yale by six strokes.

This victory was sweet, because it robbed Yale of an unbeaten season, and it was somewhat of a consolation for two heartbreaking losses suffered earlier to Yale.

Yale won the league title with a 14-1 record, nipping the Chiefs, whose three year reign with the STA crown came to an end by one match. The Chiefs ended the season 13-2, losing twice in dual matches with Yale by a total of three strokes. In their first encounter the Chiefs lost 160-161 at Yale's home course. They then lost their league championship hopes as they choked in the rematch, losing 179-181.

The golfers brought home five of the possible seven medals at the league meet; Quain paced the Chiefs with a runner-up performance, firing an 80, including a two-over par 37 on the back nine. Bligh's 86 was third best, earning him a medal and Snow was right behind with an 87 to place fourth. Snow also garnered a medal for having the longest drive of the day, close to 285 yards. Mailloux bounced back with a 43 on the back nine to salvage a 90 and fifth place medal.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

The varsity basketball team figured on bright accomplishments this season as they returned from a 17-4 overall mark the previous season, but untimely injuries hampered the Chiefs in the first half of the season.

Posters of the basketball team provided a bit of humor throughout the school as the team's picture depicted an operating room and the entire team dressed in surgical apparel, operating on the so-called "walking wounded." The poster was a good idea as the season schedule accompanied the picture and a catchy little slogan, "We ain't dead yet!" reflected the feelings of this year's varsity squad.

The injuries played a big part on the team this season as height was not a strong factor in the Chief's starting five. Juniors Don Rawlins (6'5") and David Fin (6'4") were out with ankle and knee problems and key team leader Mike Wagner was not expected to return at all after his opening football scrimmage knee injury.

The Chiefs survived through the first five games of the season, but then on one Friday the Yale Bulldogs came to play basketball and shocked the Capac basketball team with a 60-59 overtime victory.

Rival New Haven at the same time was breezing along the STA as 6'6" transfer Steve Mayfield reinforced the Rocket explosive attack with Filmore Walker and Kevin Kincaid.

The Chiefs were ranked ninth by the Detroit Free Press Class C Poll before the Yale loss, but lost all honors with defeat. After the Chiefs traveled to New Haven weeks later and suffered a 91-69 embarrassment, the Rockets found themselves ranked among the state's elite.

Tom Mailloux and Curt Dean were Capac's one-two scoring punch as they distinguished themselves as one of the best guard combos in the area.

Dean averaged a little over eighteen points throughout the season, while Mailloux contributed fourteen points per contest.

As the season progressed, David Finn and Mike Wagner both came off the injured reserve list and saw spot starting roles. Other starters in the early part of the year were Mark Carroll, Todd Vigil, and Ken Campbell.

Blue Water coaches' polls held Cros-Lex in front of Capac during the basketball season, but the Chiefs showed their potency as they toppled the Pioneers 58-40 in front of a home crowd.

Hoping to gain a little confidence for the final showdown between Capac and New Haven, the Chiefs took on Marine City. The Mariners were one of the two teams capable of producing a victory over the Rockets in the season, but the Chiefs couldn't hold on to a 10 point margin in the third quarter, as the Mariners left Capac with a 60-55 non-league triumph.

As of this writing, the varsity basketball team has not completed their season; the Chiefs will more than likely encounter New Haven two more times. If the Chiefs upset the Rockets in league competition, the standings won't change that much. New Haven will remain atop the Southern Thumb, but Capac will hold the number two spot, followed by Yale. If Capac does lose to N.H., it would mean a tie for second place with the Bulldogs.

The second meeting between Capac and New Haven will probably be in the district tournament hosted by Capac. The Chiefs will definitely have the edge going into districts; it is difficult to defeat a single team three time in a row, and even if both teams have beaten each other once, then it's a toss up.

WRESTLING

After a slow start, the wrestling team caught fire late in the season and the results were a tournament championship, a second place finish at districts, a fourth place finish at regionals, and a school record five state qualifiers.

The season's lowpoint was when the grapplers placed a disappointing fourth at their own invitational, but from there the team pulled together and went on a rampage. The Chiefs took home a runner-up trophy at the Yale tourney to get them rolling; then for the first time ever, they placed ahead of Yale in an invitational, capturing the team championship at Sandusky. Burton Bendle, a team that beat the Chiefs by over 40 points in winning the Capac Invitational, scored just 2½ more points than Capac in district competition. The outcome of the team championship was not decided until the final matches of the day, which provided great excitement for Capac's first-ever hosted district. Sending eight wrestlers to regionals helped the Chiefs grab a fourth place finish out of 26 teams, their highest placing since its existence.

Kent Perkins, who in his three-year tenure as head coach has compiled at 37-3-2 record (.905 winning percentage) in dual meet competition, has the nucleus for a wrestling dynasty, as all five of the state qualifiers will be back next year. As of this writing, five juniors will be heading for the state finals, led by 105-point dynamo, Daryl "The Boss" Brunelle. Brunelle broke the school record of wins, racking up 35 victories. He medaled in all six tournaments he participated, including first place finishes at Yale and Sandusky, and qualified for state with his third championship performance at districts and a runner-up placing at regionals.

Co-captain Steve Fournier, and Craig Lohmann also won their respective weight classes at districts. Fournier, at 167 pounds, won over 30 matches this season, and placed third at regionals. The team's takedown specialist, Lohmann, after a so-so start, peaked at the right time and won his eleventh straight match in the district's 126-pound championship final. Heavyweight Pete Gonzalez, who broke the school record for most pins, and two-time tournament champion Oscar Aguinaga round out the state final bound Chiefs.

Senior Joe Fournier, the area's top 132-pounder and co-captain, was the team's third 30-match winner. An injury sustained at regionals prevented him from qualifying for state. Sophomore 119-pounder Tom Lottie and Art Aguinaga (155) were regional qualifiers; senior Wayne Kamidoi, at 112 pounds, won 23 matches, and 145-pound junior Jeff Seros had an impressive 15-6 record.

The Chiefs finished the season with a 12-2-1 dual meet record. The two losses were suffered against Class B's fifth-ranked team Algonac, and Class A Anchor Bay. The Chiefs avenged a 33-33 tie with Imlay City, trouncing them in the rematch, 39-28. For the second consecutive year, Capac defeated league arch-rival Yale twice. It took a pin from Gonzalez in the final match to give the Chiefs a 33-31 victory in the two teams' second meeting.

VARSITY VOLLEYBALL

The varsity volleyball team came back after a dismal season last year to rank as one of the top teams in the area under the guidance of Coach Dave Young.

The team took an early lead in the Southern Thumb as the Chiefs defeated Yale and a week later Yale crushed Dryden; thus Capac found themselves on top of the league with no losses.

Dryden was by far the pre-season favorite to capture the conference title and all post-season honors. When Capac and the Cardinals met for the first time, it was a decisive match. Dryden, however, had the home court advantage and the Chiefs just didn't perform up to par as the Cards trounced Capac, 15-4 and 15-6.

Despite the setback, the girls continued to play super volleyball and pick up easy victories over New Haven, Almont, and Marysville, but the Chiefs then met league counterpart Yale, whom they defeated in three sets previously. Playing at Yale was no easy task and Capac felt the pressures early, dropping a close game, 15-9; the Chiefs just couldn't regroup from the loss and were bitten 15-1 in the second game, causing a three-way tie for the league top spot.

Capac then hosted their annual tournament and took second place, losing to Marine City, 16-4, and 15-6. Capac defeated Marysville, St. Clair, and won a grudge match over North Branch 1-15, 15-9, and 15-9, to get into the finals.

After the tourney, the big showdown between Capac and Dryden took place. This time the Chiefs felt the home court edge, but Dryden showed why they were ranked number three in Class D state polls, edging Capac, 15-4 and 15-9.

The STA Tournament followed shortly and Capac hoped to gain revenge over Dryden and Yale, but the Chiefs never faced Dryden. After blasting the Rockets in the first match, Capac dropped two emotional sets to Yale, 15-8 and 15-11. The girls went on to spear the Raiders and scorch the Green Devils in the league tourney, producing a third place finish in the race.

The Chiefs finished the regular season with an 18-7 overall record and a 9-3 hold in the STA, discarding the league tournament.

Bridget Bohr, Roberta Stasik, and Lisa Gubbles all received post-season honors in the conference, as Bohr was chosen for first team, while Stasik and Gubbles achieved second team placings.

The thrill of victory comes in many ways:

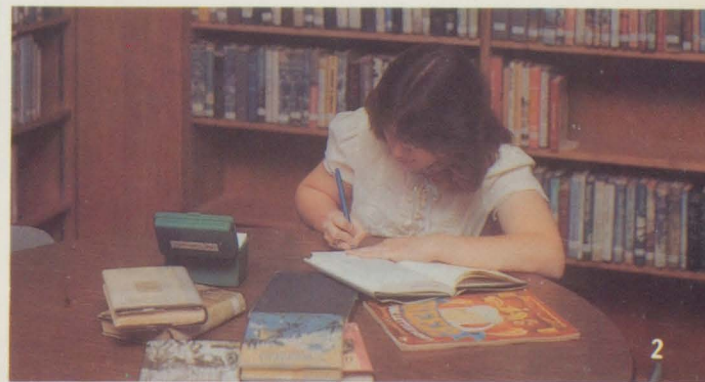

1. Class president Dan Rinke enthusiastically accepts the "Spirt Jug."
2. "Oh my gosh!" exclaims Marcia Potyczka, as she was announced as Homecoming Queen.
3. Homecoming King Mike Wagner accepts congratulations.

1. Chasing down a Devil runner, senior Ken Campbell stops a potential TD.
2. Smiling Seniors.
3. In typical style, Mark Carroll, senior fullback, runs over the Devil tackler for extra yardage.

1. Swamped with an array of college pamphlets, Cheron Frye tries to decide which one she likes.
2. "How can I take a test with all these disruption?" asks a studious Dave Lapinski.
3. Preparing for a job as a secretary or a journalist, Anne Hartman and Annette Withun tone their typing skills.

Mark,

The best we can wish for you is that your life be filled with as much happiness, love, and pride as you have always given to us.

*Love,
Mom, Dad, and Jon*

*Congratulations Renee ,
Good luck and God bless you in all your future plans.
Thank you for sharing 18 happy years with us. We love you, and are proud to be your family.*

Dad, Mom, Ronnie, and Jerry

Jamie,

You are the fulfillment of all our expectations, the return of all our love and time invested, and we are proud to be a part of your life.

Mom and Dad

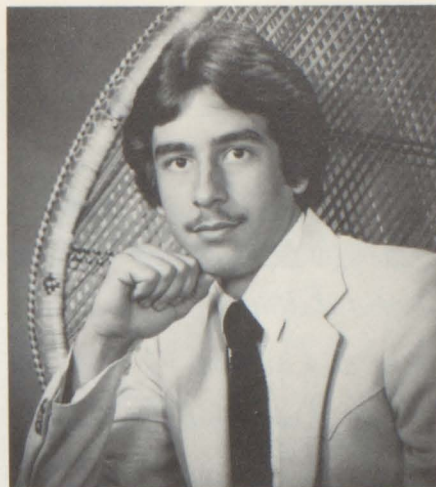

Curt,

*The path of little children on the primrose edge of life
That leads away from jealousy, bitterness, and strife.
The path that leads to happiness
as you venture on you way,
That's the path we want for you, Curt,
not just for now, but every day.*

*We're proud of you and love you,
Mom, Dad, Cristen, and Craig*

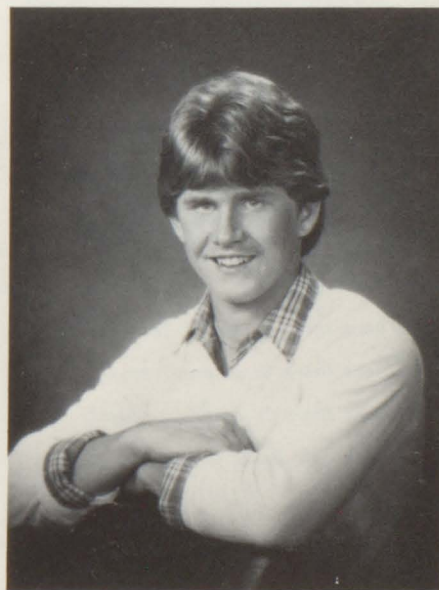

Jay and Heidi,
 You are the hope beyond the shadow of a dream.
 Love Mom, Dad, Gram, Todd, and Audrey.

Todd,
 He who dwells in the shelter of the most high,
 will rest in the shadow of the Almighty.
 Greater is he that is in you, than he that is in the world.
 We love you Todd and are very proud of you.
 With Love,
 Mom, Dad, Aaron, Lisa,
 Grandma Postina, and Golosa

Scott,
 O child of ours,
 Youngest one
 Of eight who have grown away,
 How proud we are to share your joy this graduation day.

Love you much!
 Mom, Dad
 Sherry, Dale, Chad,
 Mike, Steve, Karen,
 Jimmy, Jeff, Sue,
 Jim, Sandy, Gordon,
 Bob, Skip, Sally Jo,
 Angie

Denise,

It is hope that makes life worthwhile.

Congratulations. We wish you much happiness and success in your future plans.

Dad and Grandma

Sheryl,

You have the gift of touching the hearts of everyone you meet in a special way. There is no doubt in our mind that you will achieve every goal you set because when God made you, He made . . . "a little bit of magic."

God Bless You!

Mom, Dad, Denise,

Chuck, Donna & Jeannette

Kathy,

Lord, make me an instrument of your peace;

Where there is hatred, let me show love;

Where there is doubt, faith;

Where there is despair, hope;

Where there is darkness, light;

And where there is sadness, joy.

St. Francis

God bless you, Kathleen

This volume of The Capacian was printed by InterCollegiate Press, Inc. in Shawnee Mission, Kansas. Printing and headlining were done by the Lapeer Vo-Tech in various point sizes of Paladium type.

Color photography was taken and processed by Marion's Studio of Brown City, Michigan. World Wide Photo, Inc. of New York provided selected photos for pages 4-5 and 10-11. The aerial photo of Capac High School which appears on pages 2-3 came via Heaven's Window Aerial Photos of Mt. Clemens.

Special thanks goes to Steve Carlson, ICP representative, Brent McCoy, Marion's photographer, Miss Sue Miller and Mr. Paul Watt, who helped design the cover, and our great advisor, Mrs. "Hurricane" Jane Abruzzo.
